Purple Haze

A Twelve-Verse Junicho Renku led by Kala Ramesh Composed online at The Haiku Foundation February – May 2026

sunlight filters
through jacaranda branches . . .
purple haze . . .
Pauline O'Carolan

a flight of butterflies on the wood corral
John Daleiden

an unmarked key
found at the bottom of the drawer
Sanjuktaa Asopa

Beethoven's symphony builds up to a crescendo Mohua Maulik

spinning wheel thread unwinds from the spindle in summer heat
VJ Green

a tall dark stranger
changes more than her tyre Tracy Davidson

reliving soda shop days with porridge from one bowl and two spoons

Laurie Greer

how silent the cave of the last bears in Ireland

Marion Clarke

monsoon clouds
like a sea
above the sea

Orense Nicod

quick firm strokes
of the barber's razor

Margaret Anderson

a crescent moon
inches closer to the stone chakor

Orense Nicod

white-pumpkin-headed scarecrow for the groundnut yield

Lakshmi Iyer